

CREATING CERAMIC FINGER LABYRINTHS

Back by popular demand!

When: Wednesday, January 18, 2012, 6:30-9:00pm
Where: Carondelet Center, 1890 Randolph Ave., St. Paul

Cost: $45

This is an opportunity to play in the clay and create your very own ceramic finger labyrinth. Clay, patterns, tools, and instruction are provided. No experience needed; simply bring a creative spirit and wear clothes that can get muddy! The labyrinth will be formed the night of class and arrangements will be made for firing. Limited to 20 participants.

Co-Facilitators: Lisa Gidlow Moriarty is an artist, spiritual director, and certified labyrinth facilitator. She is the president of the International Labyrinth Society, owner of Paths of Peace in Stillwater, and has made over 100 labyrinths, many in the Twin Cities area. Jean Nelson, CSJ, is a local potter-in-residence at Carondelet Center and former art instructor at St. Catherine University.

CREATING CERAMIC FINGER LABYRINTHS

Back by popular demand!

When: Wednesday, January 18, 2012, 6:30-9:00pm
Where: Carondelet Center, 1890 Randolph Ave., St. Paul

Cost: $45

This is an opportunity to play in the clay and create your very own ceramic finger labyrinth. Clay, patterns, tools, and instruction are provided. No experience needed; simply bring a creative spirit and wear clothes that can get muddy! The labyrinth will be formed the night of class and arrangements will be made for firing. Limited to 20 participants.

Co-Facilitators: Lisa Gidlow Moriarty is an artist, spiritual director, and certified labyrinth facilitator. She is the president of the International Labyrinth Society, owner of Paths of Peace in Stillwater, and has made over 100 labyrinths, many in the Twin Cities area. Jean Nelson, CSJ, is a local potter-in-residence at Carondelet Center and former art instructor at St. Catherine University.

